THE GREAT FLIGHT.

Dramatic Finish to Aerial Derby."

As recorded by Reuter, M. Faulhan has won the greatest air race that has ever been held and the Daily Mail prize of £10,000 for the first aviator to reach Manchester from London-by aeroplane. home paper dated April 28, says.—

About an hour and a half sufficed to complete the journey so magnificently begun last night, and by 5.30 this morning the young Frenchman had reached his goal. Mr Grahame-White, with whom all will sympathise in the circumstances, showed his pluck to the end. Determined if possible to overtake his rival, who was fifty-seven miles ahead when the first descents were made. Mr White resumed his journey in the dark this morning. He was in the air by ten minutes to three. For a time is was believed he would succeed. On he flew, while his rival was still resting. By The Education of Jacquelin, by C. 3.30 he had reduced the distance separating them to thirty-four miles. Twenty minutes later he was within twenty miles of M. Paulhan, who, although then ready, had not started.

When he was fourteen or fifteen miles from Lichfield, showever, M. Paulban asconded. There was still the prospect of a great race for the remainder of the journey. Mr White had to cover about sixty-nine | Course) on THURSDAY NEXT, June 2nd. miles to the landing point at Didsbury, which is five miles from the heart of Manchester; sixty-four miles lay between the Frenchman and victory. As it proved. however, luck was all against the plucky Englishman. Near Atherstone, which is 10: miles out from London, he got into a gusty current, and at Polesworth, five miles further on, he had to descend. The French. man also, experienced a head wind at the start; He took thirty or forty minutes to get to Stafford, seventeen miles distant from Lichfield. But after passing Stattord his speed increased considerably, and before he got to Crewe he was flying at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The wind had veered round in his favour.

He made a beautiful descent at Manchester. The aeroplane circled round the winning post before it came down, with the grace of a bird, to earth. There were scenes of great enthusiasm when the victorious Frenchman landed Notwithstanding the early hour, many people were awaiting his arrival. They overwhelmed him with congratulations. M. Paulhan was the coolest man in the crowd.

Allowed by the conditions of the competition twenty lour hours within which to do the journey, M. Paulhan had completed it in almost exactly hulf, that time from the moment the official start began near Hampstead Cemetery. He was altogether about four hours in the air. The actual distance covered was 183 miles, so that the average speed was well over 45 miles an

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Dur Own Correspondent) EDINBURGE, May 3.

SOUTH EDINBUROH ELECTION. As was expected, Mr Lyell held South Edinburgh for the Radicals. The electoral conditions seem to be in water of equipose in the constituency; the Unionist candidate only reduced the Ministerial majority by Tyotes. There was a large diminution of the poll compared with the General Election. The reason seems to be that, as the Scotsman (U.) says, " a bertain apathy which suggests that in the present great constitutional crisis that section of the largely undecided." Porhaps it would be more true to say that the voters are tired of politics, and are waiting till the month of June, when the real issues for decision are placed before the country. The Glasgow Herald (U.) hesitates to take South Edinburgh 4s "a typical burgh constituency; but, iso far as it goes the polling just yot." The Lundes Advertiser (R. of course takes a more comfortable view, -"The relatively steadfast position of the two parties disposes of the idea, as far as one election suffices, that the country is tired of a Liberal Government and alarmed at its proceedings." The Dundee Courier (U.) thinks that "It is extremely improbable that a General Election this year would materially alter the position parties. Mr Redmond would still be master of the situation." A SCOTTISE NATIONAL " CAPE." The gaiety of a rather dull Parliamentary week has been sensibly increased by the MANTLA: Messrs Macondray & creation of a Scottish National Group The formation of this new "cave" in the Radical ranks has been suggested by the striking success of the Irish Nationalists in forcing their policy upon a reluctant Ministry. Scottish affairs, it is announced, are to be imposed upon the attention of Parliament. For the first time, Scottish Radicals in Parliament are to live up to the legend of the thistle; no longer humble instruments in the hands of the Liberal Whip, but independent, vigilant, and aggressive. It is a laudable ambition. though it consures the past by implied admission. Neodless to say, the new movement is headed by Mr D. V. Pirie, the sparmodically enthusiastic champion of Home Rule for Scotland. What is surprisflocked to his banner. They are Mr Munro Ferguson, Sir Henry Dalziel, Captain Waring, Mr J. D. Hope, Mr H.

> It is hard to say whether Mr Did Redmond or Mr William O'Brien as their model. Their numbers suggest the latter. Their aims, as far as these are defined. point to the former. But the comparison breaks down at the outset. The Irish groups, however much they dislike each would agree. They are all more or less Nuis, Hook Bolts, Clutch Bolts, Barre of Lords, advocates of Veto First and of Corrugated Iron Roofing, Roofing Washers, point on which they have hitherto shown Desks and Cupboards. agreement is that under no circumstances are the Government to be embarrassed by

A. Watt, Mr A. C. Morton, Mr W. H.

Cowan, Sir John Jardine, and Mr Dundas

Some suspicion of the true character of the proceedings to which they have committed themselves has evidently crossed their minds, for they have stated that there is no element of treason to the Government. in the new organisation. It shows some ingenuousness that they should regard themselves as capable of being suspected. The new group are evidently conscious of their awa beterogenousness, for they appointed three conveners to summon the remaining seven to a meeting after the recess to discuss various Scottish interests which they consider have been ne lected.

THE SCOTTISE NATIONAL EXHIBITION. The Marquis of Tullibardine took the leading part in the "proliminary ceremony" in connections with the Scottish National Exhibition. - He cut the first sod, placed it on a barrow, whooled it a few yards, and then tipped it over. Oue particular of the scone seemed to touch the imagination and the humour of the spectators. The Marquis, and many of the lairds and officers who surrounded him, wors the Highland dress and yet, shades of Bailio Nicol Jarvio !the tartans mixed harmoniously with the gowns of the Magistrates and Councillors. At the luncheon which followed, the contrast hotween the old time of conflict and the present one of friendship was not allowed to pass without remark. Principal Sir Donald MacAlister reminded the guests that one hundred and sixty-five years ago Chagow had givon a less cordial. reception to a representative of the House of Atholi; the then Lord Tullibardine came at the head of a body of Highlanders and proposed to the citizens that they should hand over a sum of £15,000, not for the purpose of teaching Scottish history, but in order to make Scottish history, The Marquis in his reply "got even," as (Continued on Pogs 3.)

Tue British Empire draws more speculative drafts on the Bank of Good Luck than any other institution of its kind in the known world. So Tar it has mostly had them honoured-again due to its lucky star. Just as the Empire has been more the result of fortuitious circumstance rather than the out come of deliberate forethought, so many of its most happy achievements have been the result of sheer benevolence on the part of Providence and not the ordered developments of scheming and prevision. And if the Empire on the whole has "muddled through" tight places, so do its -components parts trust to the same dangerous policy of haphazard in conducting their in. dividual affairs. On the whole, therethere is something more than a tinge of the absurd in the fact that a waterfamine is fast becoming an annual spectre in the life of the Colony of inches per annum to our credit, it (U.), 5419; F. H. Rose (Lab.), 1380, argues either the most wasteful use of the bounties of Nature great incapacity "of storing will be most needed. A little of both We wonder how many of our readers yearly within the bare limits of an asphalt tennis court in Hongkong if properly turned to account is sufficient to supply a family of ten persons with as much as 30 gallons per head per diem: that is, and devotion, but he cannot sanction a with more than they would actually re- further loss of life. quire for all purposes according to the generous, allowance of the local water authority; and that the amount of rain falling upon the roof of an ordinary-sized house would supply about 10 gallons,

Kowleon find necessary for their daily wants?

that we should store our rain-water will be met by the ultra delicate with the reply that such water could be of no use expect for meeting the demands of the gardener; to use it for potable purposes would be flying in the face of scientific advice and produce the direst results. In the light of some facts within our personal knowledge and experience we beg leave to differ. In the island of Bermuda, for instance, there is no such thing as a well, a stream of water, or a system of waterworks. The soil is of so porous a nature that not even a puddle exists for more than a quarter of an hour, Yet the difficulty of a water supply is got over. .. By an ordinance of the Colony no one is allowed to build a hous without making provision for storing covered tank wherein is collected the whole of the rainfall that falls on those particular premises." If Bermuda has made a success of the system surely it is possible for Hongkong to follow along a line of demonstrated practicability. Miss T. C. M. BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOULTY.

China Agency's Report.

The report of the China Agency of the British and Foreign Bible Society for the year ended December Sist, 1909, has been issued. It is a volume of considerable bulk and reflects the activities of the Society in all its branches. During the year there were printed 1,862,926 volumes, or 25,042 less than in 1908. The Scriptures issued were 1,919.688 volumes, or an increase of 409 067 over the issues in the previous year. The Scriptures circulated were 1,504,933 volumes, an advance of 139,710 on the total given a year ago.

In the section devoted to the Hongkong sub-agoncy it is recorded that there was a total circulation of 79,029 volumes, com" pared with 79,208 in 1908. There were 35 native colporteurs wholly or partly 156 employed, and nine Bible women. warm recognition of the work of the Rev. T. W. Pearce, as secretary, is recorded on his relinquishing the post, while his sucressor, the Ray, T. W. Scholes, in given a hearty welcome on taking up the duties. The latter pens a most interesting review of the year's work, in which he refers to the growing popularity of the Bible. amongst Chinese Christians.

The general report states that to the Victoria Gaol, Hongkong, 500 Wenli Bibles and 500 Canton Colloquial New Testaments were presented. The books were courteously received and the Assistant Superintendent was good enough to have them put into the cells. These prison gifts, it should be said, were provided from special funds

In his Teport on the Canton District's work the Acting Sub-Agent, Mr Hans Döring, incidentally records that "it is undoubtedly the fact that anti-foreign and anti-Ohristian feeling has spread amongst the people in Canton, and in the neighbouring cities and markets which are worked by our Canton colporteurs, and for this the 'yellow' press and the Self-Government Society are largely responsible. But what the colporteurs, and indeed all our men, need is a quickening by the Spirit of power. It is nothing less than a revival which we want for our men here in the
